DOUBLE KILLING AT ST. CHARLES

Marshall Hamby and Marion Long
Kill Each Other in Pistol Duel

LONG RESISTED ARREST.

One of the saddest tragedies that has occurred in this country for some time took place at St. Charles Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Marshall A. H. Hamby undertook to arrest Marion Long a miser of that place, for disorderly conduct. Marshall Hamby had arrested a man named McIntosh and his son earlier in the day for being intoxicated and Long assisted him in getting the two men to the lock up. On the way the elder McIntosh became unruly and made an effort to escape. Hamby struck him with his club and this seemed to anger Long who after he returned to town made several remarks about Hamby using his club on McIntosh and accidentally added that he would like to see the man that could arrest him.

Long is said to have been under the influence of liquor and continued to make remarks about Hamby during the day until about 5 o'clock in the afternoon when both entered the company store about the same time. Long began his uncompromising remarks and Hamby told him he would have to keep quiet or he would be compelled to arrest him. Several words passed between them when Marshall Hamby placed his hand on Long's arm and told him to consider himself under arrest. Long jerked away and resisted. Hamby struck him with his club and Long jerked out a revolver and shot Hamby five times three of the bullets taking effect. Hamby fell to the floor and Long started to run, as he did so Hamby got his gun in position. Long intended to leave the building but had to turn toward the prostrate man. Hamby fired and Long fell with a bullet in his brain dying almost instantly. Hamby threw his pistol to one side and said, "Take this to my wife and tell her I did my duty." He was carried here by physicians summoned. It was found that he had been shot in both lungs and through the stomach. He lived until a few minutes after 7:00 o'clock.

A few minutes after the shooting a man named Wallis appeared on the scene and began shooting promiscuously in every direction and apparently at no one in particular, after he had emptied his gun he remarked, "No one could run over Hamby while he was around."

Mr. Hamby leaves a wife and five children, he was a good and brave officer, he was buried under the auspices of the W. O. W. lodge Sunday afternoon in the presence of a large number of friends. Marion Long was employed at the Fox Run mine, he leaves a wife and six children, he bore a good reputation and was a good citizen, husband and father, his only fault was he would sometimes drink and this is thought to have been the cause of the awful tragedy Saturday. His interment took place yesterday in the St. Charles cemetery.

The little city of St. Charles is shocked and grieved over the sad affair, widows, eleven orphan children left and two good men in an untimely grave will cause them to remember Christmas eve 1910.

During the melee Mr. Ashmore one of the clerks in the store was shot in the leg inflicting a slight wound. The store was crowded with people during the shooting and as fifteen or more shot were fired, it is wonderful that no one else was seriously injured.

GLASS FLEW AND BULLETS WHIZZED

Through the Ladies Coach on the Interurban Saturday Morning.

While the Interurban was pulling into Earlington Saturday morning about 9:50 and was just opposite the colored skating rink three shots into the ladies coach. They were high and beyond breaking out two tram light bulbs did no damage. One of the bullets passed through the woodwork on one side and imbedded itself just above the window on the other. When the shots were fired the occupants of the coach did not realize what it was but thought some one was shooting fire crackers between the coaches.

There was no excitement in evidence the passengers acting as though it was an every day occurrence to be shot at. As soon as the train stopped at the depot City Marshall Bradley was notified and went on a still hunt for the culprits.

Madisonville Notes

BY AILEEN DAVIS.

South End Bridge Club.

Mrs. J. D. McPherson, Jr., was the charming hostess at the last meeting of the South End Bridge Club at her home, "The Hill," on South Main Street, Wednesday afternoon Dec. 21.

The house throughout was prettily decorated with evergreens, holly branches, and quantities of mistletoe.

The following Club members were present: Mesdames L. E. Ruby, Fred Reinecke, R. S. Dunlin Jr., H. F. Head, A. R. Cummings, Clyde Ruby, C. A. Morton, C. W. Lindsay, J. L. Gray, J. D. McPherson, Jr., and R. O. Suttle.

Misses Florence Allen and Helen Gregory were the honor guests.

Mrs. Clyde Ruby scored the greatest number of points and was presented with an exquisite pair of brass colonial candlesticks.

At the conclusion of the games the guests were invited into the dining room where a delicious Christmas luncheon was served. The table in the dining room had for its centerpiece a snow-mound of cotton, sprinkled over with diamond dust, from the center of which seemed to grow a miniature Christmas tree lighted with tiny candles.

The place cards were exceedingly unique, being original verses, the third line rhyming to the initials of the names of guests. To these cards were attached narrow bands of red ribbon securely held at the other end by tiny snow-babies, which were placed in this snow mound around the center of the table. From the edge of the table and over the linen cloth was gracefully festooned ropes of holly, caught up by clusters of red carnations and tied with large bows of red satin ribbon.

This was one of the most beautiful of the many swell reception given at the home of this ideal hostess.

Maquerade Party.

A most elegant social affair was given on Friday evening in the way of a "maquerade" at the suburban home of Miss Archie Melton, in the Western part of the city.

All the guests arrived masked in the fanciest and most fashionable costumes. Miss Minnie Sogg clothed in a costume of cotton, sprinkled with diamond dust, to represent "Snow" was voted to have been the prettiest mask present, and was given the prize, an exquisite hand painted sketch, the work of Miss Melton.

A most enjoyable evening was spent in playing games, guessing contests and music, after the guests had unmasked.

Mr. Lucian Ruby won the prize given, for making the most complete snow-mound out of cotton, in the shortest length of time, and was given a huge cotton baby, sparkling with diamond dust.

At the conclusion of the many interesting contests, the hostess served delicious ices and cakes.

The home of Miss Melton was artistically decorated with holly wreaths, evergreens, mistletoe, potted plants and bright red carnations, which lent themselves beautifully with the surrounding.

Entertained at "Hearts."

Misses Hazel Benson and Vida Barnett beautifully entertained on Thursday afternoon at "Hearts" at the home of Miss Benson in East Hall Street in honor of Miss Effie Wooten of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

The house was appropriately decorated, in strands of red hearts, holly and evergreens. After many interesting games were played, a beautiful luncheon was served. The guest of honor having won the greatest number of games was awarded an immense bouquet of red and white carnations tied with white tulle.

Their guest included: Misses Lucile Whittinghill, Lila Bishop, Virginia Tate, Margaret Victory, Louise Walker, Nan Kirkwood, Anna McIntyre Cox, Elmer D. Gordon, Mary Ruby Morton, Archie Melton, Elsie Wilson and Effie Wooten.

Miss Laura Bell Radd, of this city, had the good fortune to win the handsome doll given away by Hollinger & Son, the well known jewelers. There were 754 sold in the pumpkin and Laura Bell guessed 750. She is quite proud of the doll, as it is one of the handsomest ever seen in this city.

MYSTERY SHROUDS PROVIDENCE MURDER

Lifeless Form of H. T. Thompson
Found With Bullet Holes in Back of Head.

WAS PROMINENT MERCHANT THERE

H. T. Thompson, of the Providence Department store, and one of the best known merchants in this end of the State, was found murdered and robbed in a lonely wood late Monday afternoon. There were two bullet holes in the back of his head and one in the right eye. Any of the shots would have proved fatal.

The only clue to the killing developed thus far is that of Mrs. Benton, who heard the shots and saw three men going toward the cemetery near the woods. The killing is supposed to have taken place about nine o'clock yesterday morning and the body was found by a searching party, who started out about noon, when Thompson's absence from the store and home was noticed.

He had promised to be home for dinner as it was Mrs. Thompson's birthday and something of a spread had been prepared for the occasion.

The murdered man left his home at 7 o'clock, went to the store and attended to some business; then left at 8 o'clock, going in the direction of the cemetery. This was the last seen of him until he was found by the searching party. His hat was pulled down over his face and the ground considerably trampled, giving evidence of a fierce struggle before being murdered. It is said he had considerable money in his pocket when he left the store. This was missing when his clothes were searched Monday night.

A pistol, said to have belonged to the dead man, was found near the scene, with three chambers empty. The entire affair is shrouded in mystery and the friends of the dead man are making every effort to unravel it.

360 KILLED IN MINE EXPLOSION

Not a Single Miner Escaped From the Little Hulton Colliery.

Bolton, England, Dec. 25.—The disaster of the Little Hulton colliery, which was wrecked by an explosion followed by fire yesterday, is greater than was first thought. It is probable that at least 360 lives were lost.

It now appears that the men supposed to have been rescued from this mine came from an adjoining pit that was also seriously damaged. It seems that not a soul escaped from Little Hulton. Rescuing parties, who are working a way to the center of the catastrophe, have passed 150 bodies.

Fine Christmas Trade in Earlington.

There was a heavy trade in Earlington all last week and the merchants reports sales far beyond the same season last year. One reason for this is the mites have been running full time for several months and the people naturally had more money to spend for the holiday trade.

MOTHER OBJECTS TO DAUGHTERS MARRIAGE

Mrs. J. M. Whitfield of White City Thinks
Thirteen Year Old Daughter Should Remain Single.

County Court Clerk Will T. Mills had quite an exciting time for a short while Saturday. While issuing a marriage license for Howard Pleasant a young miner from White City and Miss, Whitfield, the mother of the girl, Mrs. Carrie Whitfield rushed in the clerk's office and commanded Mr. Mills not to issue the license.

Mr. Mills informed her that the girl was over twelve years of age and had her fathers consent and he would have to issue the license under the law. Mrs. Whitfield then remarked if the license was issued some one was going to be killed. Mr. Mills as an interested party naturally inquired who that some one might be. Mrs. Whitfield replied her husband or her daughter.

The license was issued and given young Pleasant who left the Clerk's office on a dead run with Mrs. Whitfield after him, she saying he should not have the girl and he said that he would have her in spite of all the irate mothers in the county.

Pleasant made good and the couple were married at Mortons Gap Sunday by Rev. Sisk.

How To Stop A Stubborn Cough

We don't mean just stop the irritation in your throat—but cure the underlying cause.
Cough syrups cannot do this. It takes a constitutional tonic body builder to do the work properly—and cure you to stay cured. Vinol is the remedy you need.

HERE IS PROOF:
Mrs. Minnie Osgood, of Glen Falls, N. Y., writes: "After trying several remedies for a bad cough and cold without benefit, I was asked to try Vinol. It worked like magic. It cured my cold and cough and I gained in health and strength. I consider Vinol the most wonderful tonic and invigorator I ever saw."

If we cannot stop that cough with VINOL—our delicious cod liver and iron tonic—which is made without oil—we will not charge you a cent for the medicine you buy. This seems like a pretty fair proposition—and ought to be accepted. Don't you think so? With this understanding we ask you to try a bottle of VINOL.

Form of Divorce in Old Rome.
In the earlier period of the Roman republic divorces were quite unknown and were rare right up to the time of the Sullan wars. In the old days the husband and wife who wished to separate appeared for the last time before the common hearth, a priest and witnesses being present. As on the day of marriage, a cake of wheaten flour was presented to the husband and wife, but instead of sharing it between them they rejected it. Then, instead of prayers, they pronounced formulas of a strange, severe, spiteful character, by which the wife renounced the worship and gods of the husband. From that moment the religious bond was broken, and the community of worship having ceased to exist, the marriage without further ado was forever dissolved.—New York American.

Floral Etymology.
"Primrose" is one of those words that have shown popular association to be stronger than etymology. It has no real connection with the rose, but is the old French "primeroie" and, anyhow, means only the "prime" or first flower (more or less of the year). Our language has indeed upon making "rose" of all sorts of flowers. We have the tuberose, which is only "tuberosa," tuberous, and the rose-mary, which is "rosamarius," dew of the sea. On the other hand the "rose" has been dropped readily enough in cases where popular fancy could not see the flower. The alchemists called green vitriol "rose of copper," "cupri-rosa." In French this became "couperose," but English never it down to the pointless "coppers."—London Chronicle

The Dancing Mania.
The "dancing mania" of the middle ages came on the heels of the great plague known as the "black death." It was some sort of nervous disease and is now supposed to have been what is known as "St. Vitus' dance." It began in the year 1374 at Aix-la-Chapelle and spread all over Germany, the Netherlands and Italy. The dancers formed circles hand in hand and appearing to have lost all reason, continued dancing, regardless of the bystanders, for hours together until in their wild delirium they fell to the ground in sheer exhaustion. Fainting and foaming at the mouth, they would suddenly spring up and begin the dance again, to be again exhausted, and so on until they died. The mania involved millions of people.

The Twelve Jurymen.
A prisoner is tried by twelve of his fellow countrymen. This custom is a thousand years old, and we get it from the vikings. The vikings divided their country up into cautions, which were subdivided into twelve portions, each under a chieftain. When a malefactor was brought to justice it was usual for each chieftain to select a man from the district over which he ruled and compel him to try the prisoner. The verdict of these twelve men being declared by the judge to be final.

Made Her Mad.
"I thought I overheard you and your wife quarreling a little while ago. What was the trouble?"

"She brought home a new hat, and after putting it on she turned to me and said she didn't believe it was becoming."

"Well?"

"I agreed with her."—Chicago Item-Record.

A One Sided Rule.
Once when P. F. Bertram was taking tickets at the entrance of his circus a man asked him if he could go in without paying.

"You can pay without going in," said Bertram, "but you can't go in without paying." The rule doesn't work both ways.

Not by Exclusion.
He-I had a bird time getting a good wife.

She- Goodness! Have you been married several times?

"Oh, no. But I counted my present one six years."—Philadelphia Ledger.

AD-TALK

What would you think of a salesman who reported for duty one day, lay off for two, worked a half day, went off for a week and so on without any regularity? Surely you would not expect good service from such a man. And yet some merchants hold advertising, which is simply a "salesman," up to great results when it is allowed to "work" very irregularly. The fact that advertising costs money is proof of its value. Things without cost are usually worth only their price.

HUNTS DUCKS IN HIS AEROPLANE

Aviator Latham Sets New Pace for Gunners in California.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 23.—Hubert Latham, the French aviator, went duck hunting at the Bolsa Chico Club in a monoplane. He circled over the feeding grounds of the wild fowls, driving his machine at a high rate of speed and frightening the birds into the air in flocks of thousands. With a double-barreled shotgun Latham fired ten times at the ducks, killing a few and crippling others.

TELEPHONE TRAIN DISPATCHING

During Sleet Storm in Middle West New Method Worked Satisfactorily.

During the recent sleet storms along the line of the Pere Marquette the telegraph was put out of working, but the telephone dispatching circuit worked continuously along the 136 miles of road between Saginaw, Mich., and Toledo, O., where it has been installed. The telephone will be severely tested on the Toledo division, where traffic is heavy.

The Michigan Central has installed telephone dispatching circuit of 105 miles, 115 miles and 91 miles in length, and has ordered equipment for another circuit 111 miles long. Lake Shore operates by telephone from Buffalo through to Chicago.

A cigarette butt thrown under a stairway, where 25 pounds of black mining powder was stored, caused the death of three persons Christmas Eve at Keystone shaft, near Greensburg, Pa. Eight others are in danger of death and ten are in a hospital.

Dispatcher McCreary, who works a trick on the North end, was agreeably surprised when he received as a Xmas present, a handsome mermaid pipe, given him by the operators between Earlington and Howell. The pipe is an exsuviae one and is a beauty. Mr. McCreary values it highly and is quite proud of his unexpected present.
